About us

Centurion Funeral Directors is designed around providing a “one-stop-shop” for funeral services, but more importantly allowing the family to be burden free from the stress of funeral arrangements and allowing them time to grieve the loss of their loved one.

Coming to terms with death is the greatest challenge we will face on this journey of life. Death is not only inevitable it is the one constant we can be sure of.

Centurion Funeral Directors

When a loved one is lost, whether expected or a sudden death, the financial implications are high. Most people have funeral policies covering them from R5000 to R50 000. The biggest obstacles with these policies are that they take too long to pay out and most undertakers require their money prior to the funeral service.

In some customs the families are required to bury the same day or the next. In the event of someone passing away over a weekend, there are no banks open to retrieve much needed funds for the funeral service.

Why Us?

You will receive customised funeral services at the time of the event to suit your family's individual needs. We understand that Covid-19 impacted our lifestyle and we as Centurion Funeral Directors have taken the initiative to adapt to this current lifestyle change and therefore have introduced the customised funeral service offering to our policy holders. This allows you to sit with us at the time of event and personalise the funeral service requirements for your family to the value of your selected benefit cover amount. This means that you are not forced into a pre-packaged service but given the opportunity to choose your services accordingly, such as coffin or casket, cremation or burial fee, catering, flowers, live streaming or even a hall or not. Our funeral policy caters for your family at their time of need. We provide the complete funeral services and supporting services such as floral tributes, catering, catering equipment and live video streaming of funeral services.
